The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 16 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Koch, WO 99/40875, which contemplates varying the weave density to increase or decrease porosity in a particular segment (page 8, lines 13-14) and using textured (i.e., elastic) yarn (page 13, lines 4-6). The different weave densities inherently result in one or more regions of relatively greater flexibility in the warp direction and/or the fill direction. Regarding claim 17, the actual embodiment illustrated in Figures 1 and 2 involves weft or fill yarns 16 spaced farther apart at the segment 22 (page 8, lines 22-25) so as to impart relatively greater circumferential flexibility there.

Claims 18 and 19 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 1-15 and 20-23 are allowed.

The Applicant's remarks have been reviewed and are deemed to be persuasive.
